The University of Rochester: Meliora – “Ever Better”

Dear Prospective Student,

The University of Rochester is one of America's finest institutions of higher learning. With over 165 years of excellence in teaching, research and scholarship, Rochester has forged a proud academic tradition. Rochester students, faculty and staff strive daily to bolster this rich history through their own ingenuity, creativity and discovery. In the humanities, our students and faculty are studying the masters while creating their own art, music and prose. Social sciences like our political science, economics and psychology departments have earned national recognition for teaching and research. The hard sciences at Rochester such as engineering, optics, bio-medicine and physics are all on the cutting edge in terms of creating knowledge and advancing their respective fields.

The Rochester Curriculum is the primary reason that traditional learning co-exists with innovative research and discovery on our campus. Our curriculum is student focused and adheres to the philosophy that everyone does their best work when they follow their own interests. We do not have core requirements at the U of R. Instead, from freshman year onward, students take the classes that interest them. Students have the freedom to seek out coursework that they are passionate about and faculty whom they wish to learn from and collaborate with on research, writing and special projects. Students and faculty alike thrive in our unique educational setting.

The Soccer Program at Rochester also boasts a proud tradition. During more than 8 decades of competition the program has earned a winning percentage over 0.629 and individual players have earned 24 All-America honors. Since 1986 we have participated in the NCAA Tournament on 17 occasions, won 10 University Athletic Association titles and 6 Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference championships. As our university motto “Meliora” suggests, the soccer program strives to be “ever better” as we keep finding new ways to achieve higher and higher standards. In 2016, Rochester Men's Soccer had its 17th consecutive winning season. The Yellowjackets also earned their 10th NCAA tournament appearance in the last 12 seasons – a milestone that only 10 Division III men's programs have accomplished since 2005.

As the program embarks on its 84th year this fall we look to continue this well-established tradition of excellence. As a national research university, we recruit only the best student-athletes from across the nation. Our facilities are outstanding and include a new dedicated locker room, state of the art weight room, a beautiful 120x75 grass training field, a 5,000-seat lighted stadium with FieldTurf® surface, and we utilize VidSwap performance analysis software to break down each game for team and player development. We consistently seek to test ourselves against the best with our University Athletic Association matches and by scheduling nationally ranked opponents and Division I programs.

Like our curriculum, our Soccer Program focuses on students. Our staff supports the players in their personal, academic and athletic goals and we challenge them to achieve their full potential in each area. We design training programs for speed, strength, agility, fitness and ball work, and our players develop as athletes during their time here. We also help our players grow in terms of their understanding of themselves and the world around them. Sports psychology, leadership training, service and mentorship programs, and an international tour are all vital components of a four-year career at Rochester.

Our program is seeking intelligent, talented and thoughtful young men who strive for excellence and growth as students, athletes and as human beings. We bring people into our program who are self-motivated and who thrive on challenge. We offer these enthusiastic individuals an environment that both pushes them to achieve their potential and supports them in their pursuit of personal excellence within a team framework. If this is the type of college and soccer program you are searching for, then take a serious look at the University of Rochester.

Sincerely,

Chris Apple

2017 Season Preview

The upcoming campaign brings promise for a group that gained valuable experience in the 2016 season. The Yellowjackets return 8 starters and 24 varsity lettermen. They also welcome another talented incoming class of freshmen and transfers who hail from across the country.

Goalkeepers

Rochester returns goalkeepers Redd Brown '18 and Patrick Conway '19 while freshman Hugh Curran joins the corps from Arlington, VA. Both Brown and Conway are agile keepers who bring experience as upperclassmen and a combined 32 starts over the past two seasons. Curran is athletic with good size and shot stopping abilities to round out a competitive goalkeeping unit for the program.

Defenders

UR returns a pair of junior center backs in Lasha Alkhazishvili and Luke Loecher. Both started all seventeen matches last year as they gained experience and now look to anchor the back line in 2017. Sophomores Mouhammed Thiam and Gabe Sarch, and freshman Brendan Brazinski and Mike D'Amico add depth at the central defender position.

At wing back, the Yellowjackets have athleticism and skill with five players having had productive spring seasons. On the right, Nik Angyal '19 is a tough, consistent defender with Cristian Baltier '20 bringing quickness and skill. On the left, Patrice Dougé '19 is strong and athletic, Milan Fatschel '19 is pacey with clean technique and Nate Leopold '20 is an attacking minded back who loves to combine and get forward in the attack.

Midfielders

In central midfield UR returns junior, captain Bryce Ikeda and sophomore Zach Lawlor. Ikeda has been a key player for the Yellowjackets over the past two seasons with 32 starts, 2 goals and 5 assists. He is a creative box-to-box midfielder who will be influential on both sides of the ball. Lawlor really came into his own as his freshman season progressed last year. He anchored the midfield in a holding role with his consistent passing efficiency. Alec Hay '19, Josh Cooley '20 and JR Eisold '20 all had fruitful spring seasons as they increased their roles in the center of the park. Hay is athletic and a strong ball winner. Eisold is clean and skillful and knows how to pick a pass. Cooley is dangerous going forward in transition at his attacking midfield role. Seniors Stefan Sarkovich and Jono Morgan are creative attacking options in midfield as well. Incoming players include Ryan Aspenleiter, Anurag Dwivedi and Jacob Sciandra.

Seniors Alex Di Perna, Geoff Rouin and sophomore Mitch Volis will utilize their pace and skill on the flanks. Di Perna and Rouin are experienced and will be instrumental in the UR attack. Volis made an immediate impact as a freshman with 4 goals and will step into an even larger role this fall. Senior Pete Martin was consistent and productive during the spring and in Germany. He will add depth and experience on the right flank. Rochester welcomes freshmen Patrick Hill-Junke and Josh Saitsky who both add more speed on the wing.

Forwards

Senior, captain Aleks Dombrowski, sophomore Aidan Miller and freshman Peter Love will be running up top for the Yellowjackets. They have big shoes to fill following Jeff Greblich who graduated this past spring and led the team in scoring for most of his career. Aleks Dombrowski is an industrious forward who is determined to get on the end of service and score for the blue and yellow in his final campaign. Aidan Miller has height and mobility making him an effective target playing with his back to goal and combining with midfielders. Geoff Rouin and Alex Di Perna are versatile and can also bring a different look when playing up top. Peter Love comes to River Campus from Northern California and will be eager to make an impact with his strength and pace.

Head Coach Chris Apple

In his sixteen years at the University, Apple's teams have won four ECAC Northeast Regional Championships, five UAA Championships, and made ten NCAA appearances. He has coached the Yellowjackets to a cumulative 192-59-46 record while walking the sidelines.

Overall, his career record is 211-87-49. His coaching resume includes one season as the interim head coach at the University of Notre Dame and two seasons as the head coach at North Carolina Wesleyan College. Rochester's soccer legacy includes ten UAA Championships. Apple has been a part of eight titles – three as a player (1988-1990) and five as a coach (2005, 2007, 2008, 2009, and 2013). Rochester enjoyed one of its most successful seasons in 2005, posting a 16-1-0 record (7-0-0 in the UAA) with the sole loss coming in the second round of the NCAA playoffs. The 16 wins set a single-season record for victories. Rochester was ranked number one regionally for much of the season and as high as #3 nationally. In 2006, Rochester returned to the NCAA tournament and defeated Hamilton College in the first round, before falling on the road to Stevens Institute. In 2007, the Yellowjackets finished 15-3-2 and reached the Sweet 16 round of the NCAA Division III playoffs. It was the farthest Rochester had advanced in NCAA play to that point. The Yellowjackets were 6-0-1 in UAA play and won a UAA title. In the NCAAs, Rochester defeated Keuka and Hobart before losing to fourth-ranked Messiah College on the road in the Sweet 16. In 2008, Rochester went 14-3-2 with another UAA Championship and a bid to the NCAA tournament. Despite a season ending injury to All-American forward JJ Dennstedt, the Yellowjackets beat Castleton State in the first round before losing to the eventual national champs, Messiah College. In 2009, Rochester went 14-2-3 with a third straight UAA Championship and a 5th consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament. In the NCAAs the Yellowjackets received a bye in the first round, then beat SUNY Plattsburgh, and followed it up with a 2-1 win in OT over Wesleyan College in the sweet sixteen. In the National Quarterfinals, they fell to eventual national champs Messiah, 2-1. Rochester finished the season ranked #6 in the nation, the highest ever final ranking in program history. More recently, in 2013, the Yellowjackets went 15-3-2 overall and 5-1-1 in the conference, good enough for a UAA championship and an automatic trip to the NCAA tournament. Rochester hosted the first two rounds, winning tough matches against SUNY-IT and Oberlin. In the Sweet 16, the team lost a hard-fought contest against Montclair State, 1-0, outshooting their opponents in the second half despite being down a man. During the 2014 season Rochester finished 10-5-4 overall and 3-3-1 in the UAA despite the 3rd hardest strength of schedule in the country. In the 2015 season the UR program hit several major milestones. Coach Apple won his 200th game as a college coach with a 4-0 win over St. John Fisher College. After a 3-0 win over Moravian College, the Yellowjackets won their 600th program victory. During 2016, the program recorded their 17th straight winning season and 10th NCAA tournament appearance in 12 years – something only 10 men's programs in Division III have accomplished in that time. On four occasions (2001, 2005, 2007, 2013), Apple and his assistant coaches were named the UAA Coaching Staff of the Year. The National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) named Apple as its Northeast Region Coach of the Year in 2003, 2005 and 2007.

Apple came to the University in 2001 and promptly won four consecutive championships in the Eastern College Athletic Conference. Rochester was 13-4-2 in 2001, 14-4-2 in 2002, 14-4-3 in 2003, and 14-2-4 in 2004.

The 2005 team became the highest ranked team in men's soccer history to that point when it reached #3 in a mid-season NSCAA poll. The Yellowjackets finished #11 in the final poll and earned a fourth consecutive NSCAA Team Academic Award. Before taking over at his alma mater, Apple coached for five years at Notre Dame, four as an assistant under Mike Berticelli and one as the interim head coach when Berticelli passed away suddenly. In his first season on the Fighting Irish staff, Apple helped the Irish to a 14-7-2 record, a first-ever NCAA tournament 1st Round victory, and a final ranking of 17th in Division I by Soccer America. Prior to his stint in South Bend, Apple guided NC Wesleyan College for two years. His first experience in college coaching was in 1993 as a volunteer assistant at Harvard University. Apple is a 1992 cum laude graduate of the University of Rochester with a baccalaureate degree with a dual concentration in German and history. On the soccer field, he helped Rochester to four post-season appearances – one in the ECACs as a freshman (1988) and three in the NCAAs (1989-1991). Apple was named an All-American by the NSCAA in 1989 and 1991. He earned All-UAA honors in midfield for three seasons and was chosen as the UAA Player of the Year in 1990. After graduating, he played professionally with Spvgg Weiden in Weiden, Germany in 1992-93 and with the Raleigh Flyers in Raleigh, N.C. in 1994.

Apple holds an 'A' coaching license from the United States Soccer Federation and an Advanced National Diploma from the NSCAA. Apple is active in the Rochester community. He coaches with the Empire United Soccer Academy and serves as the Rochester club's Academy Director. In 2002, he led the Jr. Rhinos U-15 boys to the United States Youth Soccer Association National Championship. He is married to Melissa Sturge-Apple ('92). Melissa earned her PhD from Notre Dame and is an Associate Professor of psychology and Dean of Graduate Studies at the University of Rochester. Dr. Sturge-Apple's research focuses on examining family-wide process models of the interparental discord, co-parenting, parent-child relationships and children's social and emotional adjustment. The Apples are proud parents of Kellen, 14 and Braedon, 12.

Academics –The “Rochester” Way

A UNIQUE PERSPECTIVE...

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ROCHESTER, students put interests and passions into action. They take double and triple majors, form combinations of clustered coursework as far reaching as engineering + literary translation + political science, and embrace the idea that education is theirs to shape.

The University of Rochester is one of the country's top-tier research universities – 158 buildings house more than 200 academic majors, more than 2,000 faculty and instructional staff, and some 9,300 students, with equal numbers of men and women. Learning here takes place on a personal scale.

Rochester remains one of the most collegiate among top research universities, with smaller classes and a 14:1 student to teacher ratio—all within a university setting that attracts more than $400 million in research funding each year. Rochester's faculty publishes articles across the globe, receive award recognition for their work, and collaborate with undergraduate students on a level that is rare in higher education.

BUILD YOUR OWN...AT ROCHESTER

Rochester recognizes that no two students are alike, so your college education can't follow a “general education” path. That is why the Rochester Curriculum – unique in higher education – has no required subjects. You create your own path and learn what you love.

Students in Arts, Sciences, and Engineering pursue a major in one of the three great divisions – humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences – and complete a cluster of three or more related courses in the two areas outside their major. The result is an education that reflects students' priorities.

The UAA: Where Theory Meets Practice

CONFERENCE VALUES & MISSION

- Academic excellence and athletic excellence are not mutually exclusive. The academic enterprise is the primary element.
- Athletic programs should reflect the quality of the academic environment within which they exist.
- Athletic excellence properly relates to the caliber of experience offered to students.
- A consistent and challenging level of athletic competition should be provided for both women and men.

For 30 years, the University Athletic Association has served as a bold statement of what college athletics can and should be - that it is highly desirable and possible for a group of committed institutions to conduct a broad-based program of intercollegiate athletics for men and women; to compete with like academic institutions spread over geographically expansive areas; and to seek excellence in athletics while maintaining a perspective which holds the student-athlete and the academic mission of the institution as the center of focus.

The UAA is a significant expression of the principle that the provision of a high-quality college athletic experience is worth the commitment required of an institution. It is worthwhile not only because it benefits the student-athletes, but also because it benefits the entire campus community and, in turn, the institution itself. Perhaps more importantly, the UAA is a strong statement that the success of intercollegiate athletics is wholly dependent upon institutional integrity and the ability of institutions to complete the full integration of athletics into the academic fabric of higher education.

Athletic Facilities

The Robert B. Goergen Athletic Center

The Robert B. Goergen Athletic Center is the cornerstone of the multi-million dollar athletic facility at the University. Goergen is a member of the University's Board of Trustees and an alumnus.

Rochester's athletic complex includes a state of the art 11,000 sq. ft. fitness center, varsity weight room, multipurpose rooms, the Louis Alexandra Palestra (home to UR's basketball and volleyball teams), the Speegle Wilbraham Aquatic Complex, coach and staff offices, and squash courts. The Aquatic Complex has an 8 lane 25m pool and a diving well with 1m and 3m boards. There is a field house which holds a 200m indoor track and is available to the campus community for lap running. The track surrounds a general-purpose turf field which varsity teams use during the winter months. Additionally there are 3 recreational basketball courts, 4 indoor tennis courts, 5 squash courts and 2 racquetball courts.

Brian F. Prince Athletic Complex

Brian Prince '86, '89S (MBA) endowed the Brian F. Prince Athletic Complex this past fall. The complex comprises Fauver Stadium, a baseball field; outdoor tennis courts; and team practice areas. Prince first made a leadership gift to the University in 2002 when he established Prince Family Endowment for Men's Soccer. This endowment helps Rochester Athletics evolve into one of the elite Division III programs in the country.

Soccer Facilities

Fauver Stadium is home to the Men's Soccer Team. Located conveniently on the River Campus, Fauver Stadium has a lighted FieldTurf® playing surface surrounded by an eight lane, 400-meter, all weather Eurotan running track. With seating for 5,000 spectators, this facility is one of the finest in Division III Athletics. In the summer of 2012, the Soccer Facilities underwent some major upgrades, including a brand new FieldTurf® Revolution playing surface on Fauver Stadium and a full renovation of North Field. In addition, with the resurfacing of Towers Field to AstroTurf®, Rochester Soccer now has two multi-purpose "turf" venues, and a brand new 120x75 natural grass training facility at North Field.

Boehning Varsity House

The new Boehning Varsity House opened this fall and resides in the first two floors of Genesee Hall. The varsity house is named in honor of men's soccer alum Chris Boehning '87. The varsity house contains sport-specific locker rooms for all Yellowjacket teams including the Tony Graham '81 Men's Soccer Locker Room. It also has a state of the art athletic training room and equipment room. The Big "R" Atrium connects the Varsity House to the dormitory of Genesee Hall and was also made possible by soccer alums Steve and Liz Biggar '92.

Program History

Soccer began on the University of Rochester's River Campus in 1934 when Dr. Edwin Fauver arranged a single game against Hamilton College in Clinton, NY. Coach Walter Campbell's team lost their first game by a score of 2-1. The following season they turned things around and produced a winning record with three wins and one loss. Coach Campbell continued to build the program for the next 21 seasons posting 65 wins, 55 losses and 11 ties. He coached three All-Americans and set the standard for years to come.

The late 50's and 60's was a strong era for the men's soccer team; in 1957 they produced the first undefeated season in the history of the University posting a record of seven wins and one tie. Behind the firepower of All-American midfielder Ted Zornow, the Yellowjackets scored a school record of sixty goals in the 1958 season. In this time period Coach Lyle Brown produced five more All-Americans. In the seventies Reed Martin set the University's goal scoring record with 41 goals. His total of 18 in 1973 was enough to tie the record set by George Schmergel in 1964. In 1978, under the guidance of Coach Tom Conner the team had their first 10-win season. In 1973 the NCAA split into three legislative bodies and the University of Rochester chose to compete in Division III.

In 1983 the Men's Soccer team hired George Perry, an All-American player at Indiana University. In his first season he set the school record for wins with 14, only to break it three years later with 15 wins. The 1986 team was also the first to compete in the NCAA Division III tournament. In 1987 the Yellowjackets joined the newly founded University Athletic Association, an 8-team conference that spans half of the country. In Perry's final season, 1988, the Yellowjackets were conference champions with a record of 6-0-1 in the UAA. With new coach Steve Locker at the reins UR continued their winning ways; sharing the league championship in 1989 and winning outright in 1990. In 1990 Locker was named UAA Coach of the Year. In each of his three seasons at the helm Locker took the team to the NCAA tournament.

In the 1990's Rochester native Mike Pilger led the Yellowjackets to UAA Championships in 1993 and 1997. In each of these years and in 1995 Pilger's Yellowjackets participated in the NCAA tournament. The 1997 team holds the distinction of being the first team to post a perfect 7-0-0 record in the UAA.

In 2001, Chris Apple returned to the River Campus to coach the Yellowjackets he once led on the field. He had spent the last five seasons coaching at Notre Dame and returned to his alma mater with a wealth of experience. In the sixteen seasons since taking over the program Apple has posted a record of 192-59-46, winning the ECAC Northeast Region Championship 4 times (2001-2004).

In 2005 Rochester became the second team to go 7-0-0 in the UAA and the first team in Rochester history to post a perfect regular season with a record of 16-0-0 and making it to the 2nd round of the NCAA Tournament. The 2006 team put together another strong season and returned to the 2nd round, beating Hamilton College in the 1st round. The 2007 squad made history by making it to the Sweet 16 before falling to Messiah. The 2008 season saw Rochester again making it to the NCAA tournament beating Castleton in the 1st round but falling in the 2nd round. During 2009 the program made history once again, making it to the Elite 8 for the first time; getting a first round bye, and beating SUNY Plattsburgh and Wesleyan College before losing to the eventual national champion. The 2009 squad also finished with the best ever end of season ranking – 6th in the nation in both the NSCAA and d3soccer.com polls. The 2010 Yellowjackets extended their streak, making it six straight appearances to the NCAA Tournament. The 2012 team returned to the NCAA tournament, where they reached the 2nd round before falling to Susquehanna. In 2013, Rochester earned the program's 10th UAA title, more than any other program in the conference. The Yellowjackets also finished the season with a 15-3-2 overall record and advanced to the 2nd round of the NCAA Tournament with a win over Salisbury before falling in penalties to Franklin & Marshall. The 2015 season saw the program reach an impressive milestone of 600 wins. In 2016, the Yellowjackets recorded their 17th consecutive winning season and 10th NCAA tournament appearance in 12 years – something only 10 men's programs in Division have accomplished in that time!

Alumni Spotlight

Brandon Campbell '10

Brandon Campbell is a composer for film, television, and video games in Los Angeles, CA. He began his career scoring student films as an undergrad at Rochester while studying Music Composition and Economics. During his school breaks he interned at Hans Zimmer's Remote Control Productions.

After graduating Brandon returned to Remote Control where he began working for Ramin Djawadi, and quickly became his writing assistant. Over the years Brandon has had the opportunity to contribute to a variety of projects: Person of Interest, Game of Thrones, and Prison Break in television; Warcraft, The Great Wall, Dracula Untold in film; and the Gears of War 4 videogame. You can also hear his music on the YouTube series Storytellers. More recently, Brandon completed the score for Legendary's The Thinning and the upcoming indie feature 7x7.

"My focus on developing good habits and discipline began at the University of Rochester, largely due to my time spent with the men's soccer program. Success in Hollywood relies heavily on work ethic, collaboration, relentlessness, risk-taking, and working well with others. These are all skills that I sharpened while playing soccer for UR. The experiences, friendships, lessons, and drive that I gained at Rochester have been an invaluable part of my success thus far as a film composer."

Brandon is a Suffern, NY native where he graduated from Don Bosco Preparatory. He was a goalkeeper on the UR men's soccer team from 2006-2009 and was a three-time UAA All-Academic team selection. Campbell graduated with honors with a B.A. in Music Composition and Economics. He now lives in Los Angeles and his studio is located in Santa Monica at Remote Control Productions.

Every player's four-year soccer career at Rochester includes the opportunity to take an international tour. In the springs of 2005 and 2008, the Yellowjackets traveled "across the pond" to compete in Spain and Portugal. In the springs of 2011, 2014 and 2017 the team traveled to Germany and Holland.

Each trip consists of playing matches against semi-pro and amateur ranks. In addition to the soccer, the trips include educational excursions and tours of cities and towns such as Estoril and Lisbon in Portugal; Seville and Barcelona in Spain; and Cologne, Munich and Hamburg in Germany. Visits have included a variety of cultural sites including the extravagant garden of "El Alcazar" in Cordoba, the famous Montserrat monastery, the Salvador Dali Museum, Dachau Concentration Camp, Neuschwanstein Castle, the Kölner Dom and many more!

The team also has time for relaxation and rest in places like the Mediterranean beaches of Spain, or the English Garden of Munich. And finally, the Yellowjackets are able to see their sport at the highest level. In 2005 the team was able to attend an S.L. Benfica match at the Estadio de Luz. In 2008 they experienced the Nou Camp as FC Barcelona hosted Villareal. In 2011 the team enjoyed the rare experience of being an away fan first hand, where they sat in the Schalke 04 'away section' for their Bundesliga match at FC Cologne. In 2014 the Jackets even got to practice on the Schalke 04 training grounds. During the 2017 trip they witnessed a relegation battle where the home side, Hamburg, pulled out a 90th minute winner over Wolfsburg to remain the only Bundesliga side to never be relegated since its inception in 1962.

The foreign tours are an extraordinary experience in every way, bringing teammates closer together and providing the players with memories that last a lifetime a lifetime.
